Finding The Right Glove For You...

Gloves in the workplace are key for protection and safety. Comfort, fit and function are hallmark of all Emerald gloves. Over the last 20 years we have expanded our glove range to suit users across many industries. Our passion for quality and value is evident in both our product selection and the service we provide to our customers.

Latex and Nitrile

Latex has long been the choice among professionals as it provides a reliable and breathable barrier against dirt and contaminants. Nitrile gloves provide even stronger protection and are less prone to degradation from exposure to certain chemicals – however they may not have the same feel and fit some users prefer when wearing latex. Individuals sensitive or allergic to latex materials should use nitrile gloves.

Powder and Powder-Free

Powder is used to make gloves easier to pull on, and to keep them from sticking together. It can act as a vehicle for the transmission of latex proteins. Typical powders used are cornstarch and oatmeal. Powder-free gloves typically cost more, since powders must be removed from the glove during the manufacturing process.

Exam Grade and Industrial Grade

Our disposable gloves are available in both exam grade (“medical”) and industrial grade (“non-medical”). Exam gloves are the best choice for protection against blood-borne pathogenic microorganisms. Medical grade disposable gloves have a superior Acceptable Quality Level (AQL) against pinholes and are in compliance with Food & Drug standards as a medical device. Our industrial grade gloves, while not authorized for medical use, are manufactured with outstanding quality control and pass any requirement established for use in food handling and preparation.
